DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-15 and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Vance (3,763,914). Vance teaches a material removing apparatus, configured to remove material from a spinning tire mounted on a vehicle (Figure 1, item 18), when said material removing apparatus encounters a first portion of said spinning tire; and, an adjusting mechanism, coupled to and configured to permit adjustment of said material removing apparatus, so as to cause said material removing apparatus to be in a position to effect a change in shape of said spinning tire (figure 1, item 12); a plurality of cutting members extending laterally across a substantial portion of a road surface engaging portion of a rotating tire on a vehicle (figure 1, item 18); and, a rotating meshing member coupled to said plurality of cutting members so that an advancement of said rotating meshing member increases a depth of material removal from said tire by said plurality of cutting tools (figure 1, item 18); wherein said material removing apparatus is configured to remove material along a line which is parallel to a surface of said spinning tire and parallel to an axis of rotation of said spinning tire (figure 1, item 18); said system is free from any apparatus configured to cause said spinning tire to spin (figure 1, items 18 and 12); said material removing apparatus is a linear plurality of sharp edges (figure 1, item 18); wherein said linear plurality of sharp edges extends a substantial distance with respect to a width characteristic of said spinning tire (figure 1, item 18 width); wherein said adjusting mechanism is coupled to a portion of a vehicle which is configured to cause said spinning tire to spin (figure 1, item 18); wherein said adjusting mechanism is configured to provide continuously variable positioning of said material removing apparatus with respect to said first portion of said spinning tire (figure 1, item 18); wherein said adjusting mechanism is a meshing member which is configured to advance said material removing apparatus fore and aft with respect to said spinning tire figure 1, item 18; wherein said vehicle could be a lift truck (figure 1, item 18); wherein said meshing member is a threaded rod (figure 3, item 18 when viewed horizontally);

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-20 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claim 2 of U.S. Patent No. 6,308,762. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because claim 2 of U.S. Patent No. 6,308,762 anticipates the claims of the instant application.

Claim Allowance

Claims 17-19 would be allowable if the obviousness-type double patenting rejection was overcome.

Claim 16 would be allowable if the obviousness-type double patenting rejection was overcome and objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The instant application is deemed to be directed to a nonobvious improvement over the invention patented in Pat. No. 3,763,914. The improvement comprises a system for reshaping a tire mounted while it is mounted on a vehicle that causes the tire to return to a more circular shape.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
